Thousands Note Anniversary Of JFK Death

Memorial Mass In Washington Recalls Tragedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — No special services were planned but none were needed to draw people to the grave of President John F. Kennedy today.

It has been six years since that Nov. 22 in Dallas Texas when the president was assassinated.

Since his burial in Arlington National Cemetery an estimated 25½ million persons have visited the gravesite according to military authorities charged with supervising the area.

More thousands could be expected to continue the procession today.

Across the Potomac River in Washington a memorial mass was scheduled for noon at Holy Trinity Church the parish church Kennedy attended before he became the 35th President of the United States.

Kennedy also was being remembered in the prayers of the priests at St. Matthews Cathedral where world leaders gathered for his funeral in 1963.

At Arlington the number of visitors to the Kennedy grave has dropped little through the years although it fluctuates with the tourist season.

Some of the visitors leave flowers on the stone walkway in front of the grave with its continuous flame. Most also pause beside the memorial at the small white cross in the grass marking the burial place of the late president's brother Sen. Robert F. Kennedy who was assassinated in 1968.

Most members of the Kennedy family were in the Cape Cod Mass. area today mourning another death, that of the late president's father Joseph P. Kennedy who died Tuesday.

Charge U.S. Viet Police Prolongs War

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and Viet Cong leaders charged today that the U.S. policy of Vietnamization "actually means a prolongation of the war" in Vietnam.

The Soviet Union also renewed its pledge of support for the Viet Cong in a communique announcing the end of visit to the Soviet Union by high-level Viet Cong delegation.

The delegation arrived in Moscow Nov. 3 and had talks with top Soviet leaders including Communist party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

A Tass summary of the joint communique said "The two sides pointed out that the U.S. plans for 'de-Americanization and Vietnamization actually mean a prolongation of the war, a continuation of the U.S. occupation to pursue the neo-colonialist policy in South Vietnam and to keep on the division of Vietnam for a long time."

The communique repeated the Soviet demand for unconditional U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam. It said the Soviet Union will "continue to render the all-round help and support" to the Viet Cong.

Repeating peace negotiations it said the Soviet Union regards the Viet Cong peace proposals made in Paris "as a real and reasonable basis for a proper solution."

Kentucky Youth Guilty Of Murder

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Michael Wayne Carver, 18, of South Shore, Ky., was convicted of first-degree murder Friday by a Scioto County Common Pleas Court jury. Mercy was recommended, making a life sentence mandatory.

Carver was charged in the stabbing death of Bill Lynn Samuel, 33, of South Shore, on a Portsmouth street corner Sept. 4.

Tell Local Draft Boards Not To Hustle Delinquents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has cautioned local draft boards they should not try to hustle into the Army "delinquents" who make good-faith efforts to correct past mistakes.

Though local boards have wide discretion under selective service regulations the department said Friday they are without authority to speed induction of men who try to correct "oversights" or even willful violations of draft rules.

The department took this position in a memorandum to the Supreme Court suggesting the acquittal of David B. Troutman a North Las Vegas Nev. laborer who was under a 5-year prison sentence.

U.S. Solicitor General Erwin

N. Griswold said Troutman declared delinquent by a Decatur Ill. board in 1967 for not staying in touch with it had offered later in a letter to obey draft regulations. Besides Griswold said he was 29 when he was ordered to induction 3 years past the usual cutoff.

The memorandum is particularly significant in that the department is defending in several other cases before the high court the accelerated induction of Vietnam war protesters. Griswold has refused to support the government's position in two of those cases.

The memorandum in the Troutman case followed. Griswold told the court the basic purpose of the delinquency regulation is to compel registrants to comply with their "duties" by presenting them with "the distasteful but honorable alternative prospect of reclassification to 1-A" and speedy induction.

He added that the regulations "seek wherever possible to effect the registrant's return to compliance with his duties—correcting of an oversight if there was merely neglect, purging of a violation should willfulness be present."

Troutman had been classified 3A as a married man with two children. He was reclassified 1A after separating from his wife and not responding to two questionnaires. He contended he should have been exempt from induction because he was supporting his mother and the children, who live with her in Decatur.

Nixon Asks Businessmen To Help Fight Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, heartened by signs near-runaway inflation is beginning to be checked, has appealed to businessmen to help "make America as it was in the beginning, the hope of the whole world."

Facing almost 2,000 business leaders, the President pledged that the United States "can and will furnish the leadership that the world needs" despite its problems at home and burdens abroad.

Nixon spoke to the men—and a few women—who accepted his invitation to attend a "Briefing for Business" on what they could do to help bring price increases under control.

Leaving most of the talk about inflation to Cabinet members, Nixon focused on the nation's proper role in world affairs and its internal problems, concluding that neither is troublesome enough to "pull apart a nation as strong as this."

In a firm defense of his decision to clamp on strict economic restraints to control inflation, Nixon warned that "Those who bet on inflation are going to lose their bets... and those who bet on cooling the inflation will win their bets because we are committed and we believe that that is the first step which is essential to deal with this problem."

An encouraging sign for the administration came Friday when it appeared the rise in consumer prices had begun to level off and orders for new durable goods showed a decline. Several other indicators have shown hopeful signs, although others still register increases.

Nixon told the businessmen: "We can look at America today and look down to the end of this century and we can see that we will then be the best clothed, best housed and the best fed people in the world, as we are today," he said. "But the critical question will be, what has happened to the American idea?"

Despite the fact that there are hungry people and poor people in the nation, Nixon said, "never in the history of the world has more wealth been more fully shared by more people than in the United States of America, and we should not be defensive or apologetic about it."

Complaints On Britain's Racial Law Said 'Frivolous'

LONDON (AP) — Complaints about Britain's law against racial discrimination from a porridge-loving Scotsman a Yorkshire cricket team and an Australian insurance company are frivolous and prevent the Race Relations Board from doing its job, board chairman Mark Bonham-Carter said today.

Dr. Alfred Emslie Scot doesn't think so. He advertised for a Scottish maid because he wanted someone who knew how to make oatmeal for breakfast. Someone complained and the board warned him he was breaking the law by specifying nationality.

The Yorkshire County Cricket Club which advertises for Yorkshire-born players was warned by the board to watch the wording of its ads to be sure there are no overtones of race color or religion. When that happened 67 members of Parliament signed a motion calling for amendment of the act.

The Race Relations Board also acted reluctantly against an Australian insurance company that asked for Australian employees to handle the problems of Australian clients.

These cases board officials say are nonsense. Bonham-Carter said that unless Parliament permits the board to act at its own discretion—subject to public scrutiny—it must deal with every complaint.

When the race relations law went into effect a year ago the board expected about 1,000 complaints annually. It has received nearly double that amount. Most are about employment and have been settled out of court.

The clause causing all the trouble warns against "an intention to do an act of discrimination." It is meant to keep business firms from seeking "white only" help and landlords from offering apartments to "non-colored" only.

Coloreds in Britain means Indians and Pakistanis as well as Blacks. The colored community numbers 1.25 million about two per cent of the population.

The strangest case wasn't particularly serious. Kenneth White owner of a restaurant in Chester was ordered to change his sign because it said "Whites Eating Inn." He had to make it "White's Eating Inn."

Cincinnati Man Guilty Of Murder

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 24-year-old Cincinnati man was convicted of first-degree murder late Friday night in the death of a taxi driver in 1967.

A Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury which deliberated 10 hours returned the verdict against Ronald Hector but recommended mercy.

Hector had previously been convicted on the same charge by a jury that did not recommend mercy and had been sentenced to die in the electric chair for the death of Walton Garrett 60 during a robbery.

Washington (AP) — President Nixon said he will press his fight "to restore the proper balance" to the Supreme Court despite the Senate's 55-45 rejection of his nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

But the President will wait until after Congress opens its new session in January to submit another nomination. Any this year would automatically lapse when the current session ends next month, unless confirmed before adjournment.

The vote Friday, which climaxed a bitter three-month struggle over judicial ethics and philosophy, was Nixon's most severe congressional defeat since he took office.

It is only the second time this century that the Senate has voted to reject a Supreme Court nomination. The last time was in 1930 when President Herbert Hoover's choice of Judge John J. Parker lost by two votes.

Joining 38 Democrats in voting against confirmation were 17 Republicans, including GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Assistant Leader

Robert P. Griffin of Michigan. Twenty-six Republicans voted to confirm Haynsworth's nomination, as did 19 Democrats. All the Democrats were southerners except Mike Gravel of Alaska and West Virginia's two senators, Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph.

From his home in Greenville, S.C., Haynsworth said he would have to consider "whether my usefulness has been so impaired" that he would resign as chief judge of the U.S. 4th Court of Appeals. Haynsworth said he would not decide "in the emotion of the moment."

Nixon telephoned Haynsworth after the vote and told him he hoped he would stay on as chief judge of the appellate court.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., who directed the floor fight for the nomination, told reporters that in his judgment the 57-year-old jurist would have been confirmed if it had not been for labor opposition.

But Hruska said he thinks "the people realize it was a defeat for balance on the Supreme Court." The senator said it will be difficult to mount a successful campaign against another nominee with a conservative background.

Although Scott voted against Haynsworth's confirmation, the Republican leader said he would like to see Nixon name another southerner and a strict constructionist.

"The court needs balance," Scott said, and this also was the theme of a number of other Republican senators who voted against Haynsworth.

Army Probes Viet Slayings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says 24 U.S. soldiers and former servicemen in addition to an officer and staff sergeant already charged are being investigated in the alleged murder of approximately 100 Vietnamese civilians in 1968.

But the South Vietnamese Defense Ministry in Saigon said today there was no massacre, that U.S. artillery and air strikers had killed "about 20 civilians" in a battle which claimed 125 Viet Cong.

Referring to some accounts being carried in the U.S. and foreign press the South Vietnamese agency said: "Reports from newspapers and foreign news agencies recently that said 527 civilians were killed were completely inaccurate."

Pentagon spokesmen here had no comment on the Saigon announcement and indications were it caught them by surprise.

In reference to the March 1968 raid near a hamlet known as My Lai the Army said: "During the operation a small group of American soldiers reportedly shot many (possibly 100) Vietnamese civilians."

The Army said that Lt. William L. Calley 26 now stationed at Ft. Benning Ga. was charged in the incident and a decision would be made early next week whether he will face court martial. Calley was leader of a unit involved in the operation.

A staff sergeant David Mitchell 29 of St. Francisville La. has been charged with assault to commit murder.

Sea 7 Paintings While Owner Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven paintings valued at more than $500,000 have been stolen from a Manhattan gallery while the gallery owner was discussing art thefts with other dealers.

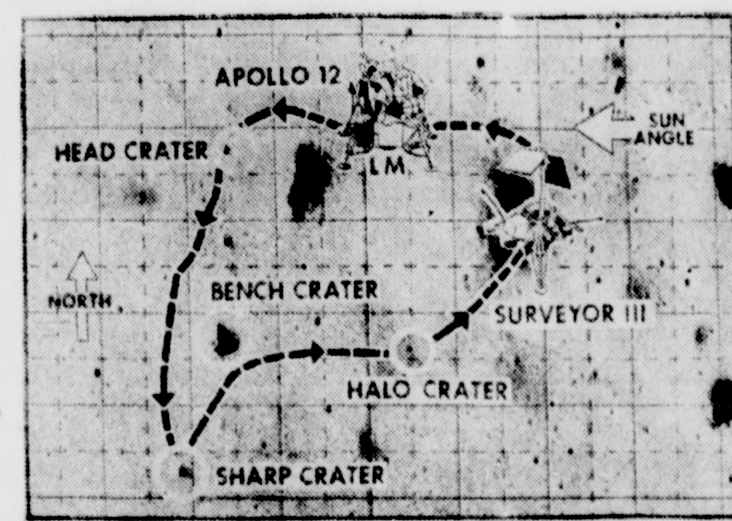

Art dealer Stephen Hahn said Friday that the impressionist and post-impressionist paintings were taken Wednesday night from his gallery on Madison Avenue.

Battlefield Action Scattered Across Northern Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — One day after the U.S. Army announced it is broadening its investigation into an alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians, the South Vietnamese government said reports of the incident are "completely inaccurate."

Responding to published reports that American troops murdered several hundred civilians in a coastal hamlet 21 months ago, the Defense Ministry said in a statement today that there was no massacre but that U.S. air strikes and artillery killed "about 20 civilians" in a battle which claimed 125 Viet Cong.

On the battlefield, allied forces said today that they killed 76 enemy soldiers and uncovered a huge munitions stockpile south of Da Nang. Ten miles farther south, North Vietnamese troops ambushed American infantrymen from three sides, killing five U.S. troops and wounding seven others. Six enemy soldiers were reported killed after armed helicopters and an Air Force AC47 gunship helped break up the night ambush.

South Vietnamese headquarters claimed 56 Viet Cong soldiers were killed by government infantrymen, armored personnel carriers, bombers and artillery in a sweep along the coast of the South China Sea. Only seven weapons were captured, however.

A communique said "85 persons were detained" for questioning. It also said one government soldier was wounded.

Allied forces claim to have killed 226 enemy soldiers in this same coastal region in the past 10 days, including a North Vietnamese battalion commander and the district political commissar.

During the same period, allied casualties were reported as 10 South Vietnamese troops killed and 40 South Vietnamese and five American advisers wounded.

Elsewhere, only light and scattered fighting was reported. The U.S. Command said there were 27 enemy rocket and mortar attacks overnight. Four were against U.S. units or installations. Headquarters said only six of the 27 attacks caused casualties or damage. Two Americans were reported wounded.

In one of the attacks, enemy gunners fired five rounds of 100-pound rockets into the U.S. Army Headquarters, Vietnam, at Long Binh 18 miles northeast of Saigon. Headquarters said there were no American casualties in this attack and damage was light.

American B52 bombers flew three missions during the night against North Vietnamese positions near the Duc Lap Special Forces camp on the Cambodian border 130 miles north-northeast of Saigon. Up to 15 bombers dropped as much as 450 tons of explosives on what the U.S. Command described as enemy base camps.

Despite these objections, the American source said that if Nixon and Sato had not agreed on these points the U.S.-Japan security treaty would not have lasted beyond 1975. Now part of the agreement says the treaty will be renewed indefinitely on a year-to-year basis.

Splashdown Will Occur On Monday

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 12 moon explorers streaked homeward today as earth's gravity pulled their Yankee Clipper spacecraft faster and faster toward Monday's splashdown.

Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean, weary from their successful lunar excursions, were allowed to sleep as long as they liked.

They went to sleep shortly after firing a powerful rocket burst behind the moon Friday to break the lunar gravitational embrace and plunge earthward.

Mission Control let the Apollo 12 crew sleep for almost 12 hours, the longest rest period so far of the trip. Shortly after 7 a.m. there were signs of activity in the capsule and Mission Control beamed them a taped recording of "wake up music."

Conrad replied by turning on his own recorded music for what the ground communicator called "a little bit of a battle of bands."

About half an hour later the Astronauts fired a two-second rocket burst to change the spacecraft's course slightly. The end effect of the burn was to make the scheduled splashdown one minute later than originally scheduled.

While they slept, the Yankee

Apollo 12 Hit Twice By Lightning

SPACE CENTER Houston (AP) — Tentative analysis shows that Apollo 12 was hit twice by lightning after it lifted off last week in a Cape Kennedy rain storm space officials say.

The 363-foot tall rocket and spacecraft assembly was struck once 36 seconds after it left the ground and a second time 52 seconds after liftoff Donald D. Arabian of the Manned Spacecraft Center program office told newsmen Friday.

There has been considerable question over whether lightning actually struck the ship at launch.

Space agency officials said after the launch that reports from aircraft had showed there were no lightning-producing elements in the rain clouds and this assertion was repeated at the Friday news conference. But Arabian added that the presence of the ship with its rocketfire apparently changed the potential for electrical discharge or lightning.

He said the ionized stream of fire from the rocket's exhaust brought the electricity down the vehicle and the flame to the ground from a cloud layer 6000 feet high.

The second lightning bolt he said used the rocket's flaming tail to jump from one cloud to another.

Earlier Dr. Rocco A. Petrone Apollo program director said the lightning may cause a change in spacecraft launch rules but that "no decision has been made yet."

Officials described the Arabian findings as "a very interim kind of report."

Inspect Cattle For Lice Before Winter's Onslaught

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Before the full onslaught of winter arrives, cattle should be carefully examined for louse infestations, suggests William F. Lyon, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University.

Infested animals usually scratch and rub against buildings, fences, and other subjects for relief from irritation.

Lice are best detected outdoors during a bright, sunny day. They can be found in the hair around the neck, brisket, back, inner surface of the thighs, over the withers, at the tail head, and near the nose, eyes, and ears.

When lice are discovered in a herd of cattle, all animals, must be treated. Any remaining on an untreated animal will only reinfest the entire herd. A second treatment should be made the following 3-4 weeks to kill the new lice hatched from eggs not destroyed.

IN MANY herds there are one or two animals which carry the heaviest lice infestations. They are known as "carriers" and frequently infest other animals in the herd. Such animals are difficult to keep louse-free and are usually slow gainers. They probably should be "culled out" of the herd as a good management practice, says Lyon.

Several insecticides are effective in controlling cattle lice.

The choice of the insecticide depends upon whether the treatment is for dairy or beef cattle, and whether the insecticide is to be applied as a spray, dip, dust, or in a rubbing device.

Dairy Cattle: In cold, adverse weather, where cattle should not be chilled, use dusts of three percent Ciodrin, or one percent rotenone. Repeat dust applications in 2-4 weeks, if needed. Don't treat calves under six months of age with three percent Ciodrin dust, the entomologist cautions.

Backrubbers containing one percent coumaphos (Co-Ral) may be used for louse control. Mix four quarts Co-Ral 11.6 per cent in 13 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil, or No.2 diesel fuel oil. Use about one gallon of prepared solution per 20 foot of cable. Place the backrubber in a place where animals travel regularly.

Sprays are usually more effective than dusts, or backrubbers. Mix two quarts of Ciodrin EC (1.1 pounds per gallon) in six gallons of water. Apply one to two pints of prepared solution per animal using a power, or hand sprayer. Do not apply to cattle more often than once every seven days, except as a mist spray. Use at least two spray applications about three weeks apart to prevent recurrence of lice.

Beef Cattle: A wider variety of insecticides and methods of application can be used on beef animals, since contamination of milk is not a problem. However, you must strictly adhere to waiting periods from last application to slaughter to prevent meat contamination with residues.

A DUST of 3 percent Ciodrin may be used on beef animals as well as on dairy animals for louse control. Sprinkle dust on poll, back, or sides of animal; or place dust in a dust bag. Dust bags should be located in barnyards, in barn doorways, in gate passage ways, around mineral boxes, or in shade where cattle congregate or pass once or twice a day.

Do not treat calves under six months of age or make application on older animals more often than once every three weeks.

Backrubbers containing 1 percent Ciodrin, 1 percent coumaphos (Co-Ral), five percent methoxychlor, 1 percent ronnel (Korlan), or five percent toxaphene are recommended. There is no waiting period from application to slaughter when using Ciodrin, coumaphos (Co-Ral), or methoxychlor. There is a waiting period of 14 days for ronnel (Korlan) and 28 days for toxaphene on animals less than 3 months old. A dip treatment with lindane 25 percent WP, or 20 percent EC gives very effective lice control. Never dip calves less than three months old. There is a 60 day waiting period after application before slaughter with a lindane dip.

Spray treatments are most frequently used. Sprays of lindane, toxaphene, coumaphos (Co-Ral), malathion, ronnel (Korlan), or methoxychlor all give good lice control when animals are sprayed thoroughly according to label recommendations. Do not spray animals less than 1 month old with malathion, or animals less than 3 months old with lindane, toxaphene, or coumaphos (Co-Ral). Do not use a spray of lindane within 30 days, toxaphene within 28 days, or ronnel (Korlan) within 56 days of slaughter.

Ruelene 8R or 25 percent pour-on will give lice control (recommended for beef cattle only). There is a 28 day waiting period from last application. Pour this chemical evenly along the animal's backline with a marked dipper, according to label directions and precautions.

Corn Lodged; Soil Test

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Got lots of lodged corn this fall? One of the first places to look for the answer to the problem is in the soil and this requires a soil test.

Several things, or a combination of things, can cause corn to lodge, and improper fertility balance is one of the first places to look. High rates of nitrogen fertilizer without enough of other nutrients, especially potassium, can cause poor stalk quality and lodging.

Soil testing to determine soil test values and then fertilizing according to soil test recommendations should eliminate improper fertility balance as a cause of lodging.

Other factors which can affect corn lodging include the resistance to stalk rot bred into the hybrid. Excessive population can cause small spindly stalks and encourage lodging also.

STRESS conditions during the growing season, such as extreme heat or drought can cause the plant to be weakened and allow stalk rot to get started in the plant.

The above factors all affect the amount of broken or weak stalks in a corn field.

If the lodging occurs at the roots, causing a plant to lean over at an angle, then a careful look should be taken at the corn rootworm control program.

Excessive root pruning by insects can weaken the root system and this allows what is called root lodging.

Getting ready for '70 involves a careful look at all factors of production and a soil test is a good place to start.

Camping Is Effective Teaching Tool For 4-H Club Boys And Girls

By DAVE OWENS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Throughout the years, camping has been an effective teaching tool for 4-H club boys and girls.

This experience complements the local club program and the individual 4-H projects. Boys and girls gain a creative educational experience in cooperative group living in the out-of-doors through camping.

From June through August each year nearly 16,500 Ohio youngsters take part in a 4-H club camp program. Under the direction of extension staff members, 12 extension-owned campsites and seven private or state park camps provide the physical setting for planned educational programs. The extension camps were made possible by contributions from the public and they are maintained with campers' fees.

There were 358 Pickaway County 4-H club members attending camp at Tar Hollow in 1969. Plans are being made for the 1970 camping season. The dates for 4-H camp at Tar Hollow are: June 12-15 — Ross-Pickaway-Fairfield Jr. Camp, June 23-26 — Pickaway-Fairfield Beginners Camp, June 29-July 3 — Pickaway Jr. Camp, July 14-18 — and Pickaway — Ross-Fairfield Jr. Camp.

Designed to contribute to the mental, physical, social and spiritual growth of the boys and girls, 4-H camps utilize the resources of the natural surroundings. Camp programs are now designed for specific age groups of 4-H'ers rather than offering the old umbrella-type program for all ages.

While the age groups differ at beginners, junior and senior 4-H camps, the program objectives remain the same. The program provides opportunities for 4-H'ers to acquire skills and knowledge in getting along with people, to develop personality and character, to receive training in leadership, to make new friends, to learn to take responsibility, to understand and appreciate nature, and to have fun.

Recent trends have brought new approaches to 4-H camp programs. Early centralized programs had rigidly scheduled classes. Each camper was required to take part in these selected as "good for him."

No longer is the camp program a schedule of activities. Now, it consists of the sum total of everything that happens from the time the 4-H'er enters camp until he leaves. Camps are no longer planned by an individual camp director. They are planned by the combined efforts of campers, counselors and the general camp staff.

Now being tried on a limited basis in some camps is a decentralized program. Small units of campers, living in a separate area from the main group of campers, plan a daily program as if they were a separate camping group. These homogeneous groups are selected on the basis of age and camping experience. This programming provides the opportunity to blend small group living with the life of the big camp group.

Camp leaders believe that a child benefits from camp in direct proportion to his happiness in it. They try to learn the wishes and needs of the campers and to provide a variety of ways to meet these needs.

campers to show respect for his fellow campers.

Camp experiences afford the 4-H'er the opportunity to learn new skills and ways of using his leisure. Through 4-H camping, boys and girls learn that they may have a voice in making decisions but not always their own way.

The real value of the 4-H camp is what happens to campers — what they take home with them in memories, in new purposes, in improved or newly acquired skills, in friendships and appreciations.

Today, more than any time in its history, 4-H camping has a purpose; new experiences are deliberately planned for boys and girls. Arranged for specific age groups, camp programs include health, safety, physical fitness and education for leisure, personality and social adjustment and community living. The programs are implemented through outdoor classes in conservation, wildlife and forestry and through planning and participation in campfire and inspirations, crafts, recreation and group living by cabin units.

Hopefully, through this cooperative group living, 4-H boys and girls return home from camp with new attitudes toward and appreciation of familiar persons, places and things.

Home Agent Tips

By Marjorie Wolford
Home Economics Agent

All homemakers are invited to attend the annual countywide Christmas program "Christmas Happenings For Your Home" 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., December 8, at the 4-H and Grange Building.

The Extension Homemakers' Council has planned a very interesting and educational program of decorating ideas for display. The program highlights will be: registration — 10 a.m. (small fee collected at the door); 10:30 — "Christmas Happiness" — demonstration of Christmas arrangements for the home by Mrs. C. W. Hedges and Mrs. Clark McFarland; 11:45 — luncheon; 12:30 - 1 p.m. — country market (baked items will be displayed earlier and not sold until after lunch); 1 — installation of county officers; 1:05 music by Circleville City Boys Choir directed by Paul Dunkle; 1:30 — IFYE experience in Argentina — Ray Noecker. Door prizes will be awarded following the program.

Luncheon tickets are available from Extension homemaker groups and the County Extension Office. All reservations must be made and paid for by Dec. 4. No tickets will be sold at the door. Call 47-7534 for further information.

This is the last weekend before Thanksgiving. If you have not purchased your turkey here are some tips to help you in shopping.

Select clean dressed, plump birds with wide, straight breasts; moist, pliable, waxy skin, thick meaty thighs and fat well distributed under the skin.

Determine the number of servings you will need (keeping in mind some people will want more than one serving), then buy the size turkey to meet your requirements. A "rule of thumb" to follow when buying turkey: less than 12 pounds ready to cook weight allow ¾ to 1 pound per serving. A bird which weighs 12 pounds and over you should allow ½ to ¾ pound per serving. Large meat type birds will yield two-thirds white meat and one-third dark meat.

Fatigued feet, the Christmas shopper's lament, takes its toll on the entire family. When Mrs. Santa Claus' feet ache she gets grouchy. A little pre-shopping planning can keep gift buying pleasurable right through the dinner hour.

Spend an at-home day preparing casserole dishes to freeze. Then, on shopping days, select a meal to defrost, tear up salad makings and put them into a covered bowl, line up the go-withs for supper and set the table before leaving.

This way, even if you are delayed and open the door to find a famished family, you can quickly get the meal on the table. If there are small children, leave a snack tray of carrots and celery to stave off fussing. It also helps to bring a small gift, such as a Christmas coloring book, to hold their attention until dinnertime.

Upon returning from shopping, pop the casserole into the oven and then use 15 minutes of the reheating time for a footbath. Soaking your feet in a basin of warm suds will do wonders for your disposition. And it can be done in any room so that you can converse and listen to the children's news of the day at the same time.

FCC Says Newsmen's Words 'Fair'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has told a Texas woman that television commentators did not violate its fairness doctrine in reviewing President Nixon's Nov. 3 Vietnam speech.

Mrs. J. R. Paul of Houston had written the FCC Nov. 10 saying that "the newsmen were very one-sided in their post-talk analysis of the speech."

FCC Chairman Dean Burch, in a letter endorsed by the entire commission, replied Thursday that no action was warranted and that the commentary was constitutionally protected.

The FCC letter said that the First Amendment "certainly permits the analysis of any one spokesman to be one-sided."

"The issue which was here involved—Vietnam—is one to which the networks have devoted, and continue to devote, substantial amounts of time for contrasting view points," Burch said.

Mrs. Paul's letter was written three days before Vice President Spiro T. Agnew criticized the TV commentators in a speech at Des Moines, Iowa. Agnew said people have a right to form their own opinions "without having a President's words and thoughts characterized through the prejudices of hostile critics before they can even be digested."

The FCC letter did not mention Agnew's remarks although many of the issues covered in its reply paralleled those raised by the vice president.

LUKENS SAYS He's Glad Taft's In Race

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)— Rep. Donald E. Lukens Friday welcomed Rep. Robert Taft's announcement he would run for the U.S. Senate.

"I'm very pleased to see another contestant in the race," he said. "It makes a more open primary. I believe in the open primary system."

Taft announced at Cincinnati he would seek Republican nomination for the Senate, joining Gov. James A. Rhodes in that race.

"Bob (Taft) endorsed the concept of young people getting into the primary," Lukens continued. "This is very encouraging to me."

Lukens, 38, said he "leans toward the Senate," and "I will have my own announcement about the first of the year, probably after the first."

The 24th District Congressman said he had speeches scheduled today in Lorain, Elyria and Cleveland.

Cattle on Full Feed the Very First Day?

Right! With new Purina Cattle Starters, that is. Now, under normal conditions, you can start your calves the very first day. This was proven in an 84-day report from 7 major midwest stockyard demonstrations where cattle were put on public feeding demonstrations. These cattle weren't hand-picked, cream of the crop cattle. They were average type cattle like any farmer in the area might feed.

The cattle were started on full feed of new, Complete Purina Cattle Starters the very first day. There was no warm up period, no founder, no tedious daily increases in grain. The cattle just walked up to the big self-feeders and started eating. Cattle Starter I the first week, Cattle Starter II the second.

At the end of only two weeks, the cattle had averaged consuming more than 20 lbs. per head per day . . . gained an average 3.91 lbs. per head per day . . . and the feed cost had averaged only 15.5¢ per lbs. gain.

No doubt about it, New Purina Cattle Starters proved they can help start "green" cattle fast, safe, and easy.

Cheerleaders Provide Spirit For Logan Elm Team

SPRIT SPREADERS — Providing support for their varsity team this year are six spirited misses. In front, left to right, are: Twana Moats, Lolita Faulk, Teresa Wright; back, Wanda Dunkle, Patty Law, Marla Hobbie.

This year's varsity cheerleaders for Logan Elm's 1969-1970 season are as follows: Marla Hobbie, a junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hobbie, Route 1; Teresa Wright a junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wright, Route 1. This is the first year for the two on the varsity squad and they are doing a terrific job in backing their team with school spirit and enthusiasm.

The other four members on the squad are seniors. They are Twana Moats, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moats, Route 4; Patty Law, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Law, Route 4; Lolita Faulk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Faulk Sr., Route 4; and Wanda Dunkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunkle, Route 1. This is the second year varsity for these girls. All have been reserve cheerleaders in previous years.

The girls have spent many hours of practice in achieving school spirit. They feel that making school spirit and arousing an over-all interest in the sport is the most important thing. Each has high hopes that this year the Pep Club will contribute 100 per cent in helping back their team. New rules and regulations and an all-round better pep club are being formed now. If interested, contact one of the cheerleaders.

Logan Elm reserve cheerleaders will begin the 1969-70 season this Saturday at the basketball game with the Teays Valley Vikings. These six girls who will represent their team in basketball are all ready for the games to come.

The veterans of this year's squad are Debbie Collins and Susan Reichelderfer. Debbie, a sophomore, resides with her parents at Route 1, Kingston. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Collins. She stated, "with a great reserve team and a peppy student body like Logan Elm's, we'll be sure to have a string of victories!"

Susan, also a sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Reichelderfer, Tarlton. She said "a lot of spirit has been shown but after we win a few, it will increase."

Kathy Hensley, a first year rookie of the squad, lives with her parents at Route 1, Circleville. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hensley. "We've got a lot of spirit and I'm looking forward to a winning season."

Our next cheerleader is Willa Martin, a freshman and Junior High veteran. She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Martin, Route 1, Laurelville. She thinks they will have a great team with a lot of victories.

Another member of the reserve squad is Cindy Matthews. Cindy is also a first year cheerleader with a Junior High experience. She resides with her mother, Mrs. Louise Matthews, in Tarlton. She thinks high

Freshman Sheryl Quincel is really looking forward to this year. With her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quincel, she makes her home at Route 1, Circleville. She is really excited about cheering for our spirited Logan Elm team. She commented "We'll have a great reserve team this year and hope for a lot of victories."

The girls representing Logan Elm went this past summer to Kentucky Cheerleading Clinic at Lexington, Ky. There they learned many chants, cheers and ideas for the on-coming year.

Logan Elm Freshman cheerleaders were recently chosen. They are: Polly Crist, Lois McCoy, Debbie Maxson and Joyce DeLong.

Polly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Crist of Route 11, Circleville. Her first reaction to being chosen was, "I about died." Her likes are Punk, slumber parties, cheering, meeting new kids, Mr. Burger's science class and dancing. Her dislikes are stuckup people, Monday mornings, and tests. Braves Set Opening Meet With TVHS

Logan Elm has only two returning starters, Dan Fausnaugh and Dan Ankrom. Coach Pritchard says that the team will have to make up in practice what they lack in experience and size. The Braves are lacking in height also with their tallest man being a 6-foot 2-inch junior, Mark Knece. He is lacking in experience but is a hard worker.

Bench boys of last year's team will have to come through for LE if the Braves are going to have a winning season again this year.

Members of the team include: Dan Fausnaugh, Dan Ankrom, Dale Hartley, K. C. Jones, Rodney Riddle, Greg Fouch, Roger Evans and Jeff Jones, seniors; Mark Knece, Chuck Simis and Tim Speakman, juniors and a hustling sophomore, Jeff Young.

The Braves play a 17-game season with ten away games and seven home games.

Main characters were played by Betty Bolender, Grover Dresbach, Mari Zahard, Larry Smith, Janice Kerns and John Strawser.

A few comments on the play by the actors were: "I'm sort of glad it's over." "We had a ball doing it." "Couldn't have done it without Mr. Palmblade."

We want to extend our congratulations to all the juniors for their participation in a real enjoyable play.

'Truth And Consequences' Subject Of GAA Assembly

The monthly assembly of the Logan Elm student body was held on October 20, in the school gymnasium. The GAA was put in charge of this month's program, entitled "Truth and Consequences."

Students were chosen from the audience and given ridiculous questions. Being unable to answer the question put to them, they suffered an amusing consequence. The consequences varied in both actors' reactions and ideas.

One consequence involved two students who had a cup-cake eating contest. One group of cakes were normal while the other group of cakes were filled with mustard and several mouth-burning ingredients. The result was amusing and showed good sportsmanship of the students. Another knee-slapper occurred when two male students, given two suitcases full of girls apparel, had to put on the clothes, race across the stage, disrobe and place the clothes back into the suitcases.

The morning's activities came to a rip-roaring climax when the student body unanimously voted Mr. Burger and Mr. Fletcher to get on stage and suffer the consequences.

Living Costs Rise Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for cars and houses were major factors in a fourth of one per cent rise in living costs last month that continued the nation's sharpest inflation in some 20 years, the government said Friday.

However, Americans got a break at the grocery store in October when food prices declined six-tenths of one per cent, notably for meat and vegetables.

The over-all rise in living costs brought the Labor Department's consumer price index to 129.8. This means it cost $12.98 last month for every $10 worth of food, housing, clothing, transportation and medical care in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

At the same time, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that average pay of some 45 million rank and file workers declined 86 cents a week to $116.94 because of a substantial cut in the work week. After the deduction for taxes and the rise in living costs, the purchasing power of the average pay check was down one per cent for the month and eight-tenths of one per cent below a year earlier.

NAE Circulates Christian Document

WHEATON, Ill. (AP) — The National Association of Evangelicals is circulating a "Christian Declaration", seeking signatures throughout the country.

It says that Christian principles "played a major role in the founding of this nation," but secular society now widely neglects these values. The statement calls for an American recommitment to God.

State Farm Hikes Auto Insurance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Farm Insurance Co. announced Thursday an immediate auto insurance rate increase averaging 19.9 per cent for full coverage.

The company blamed rising claims costs for the increase.

Centuries ago the Spanish believed that copper grew in the ground. They thought if an exhausted copper mine was left alone it would become productive again.

Annual Fete Honors Team

Logan Elm's annual football banquet took place Nov. 17 at 6:30 p.m. It was a carry-in banquet in honor of the football team, coaches and cheerleaders.

The welcome was given by Doyle Wiggins followed by several music selections from the Logan Elm Boy's Ensemble. Roger Evans and Wiggins then presented "The Football 69 Anecdotes" which gave the audience an inside view of incidents, both funny and serious, occurring in practices and during games. After this, Coach Albright presented the boys their awards. Honors went to Dan Ankrom and Werty Teets. Dan received the most valuable player award and Werty received the most improved player award. Dan Ankrom also received a special most valuable player award given by Jerry Leist.

The banquet this year was quite different and turned out to be very enjoyable for everyone present.

Senior Pictures Taken At LEHS

On October 6-8, the seniors of Logan Elm High School had their senior pictures taken by a photographer from Osbourne Studios in Lancaster.

Proofs were returned through the mail and the orders were taken Nov. 5.

The pictures should prove to be worth the money that the Seniors will be dishing out when they are returned before Christmas vacation.

JOYCE GREEN

Green Chosen New Student

Joyce Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green, Route 1, Stoutsville, is a new student at Logan Elm High School.

She is a sophomore and enrolled in the business course. Her activities are Riding Club, choir and GAA.

Her likes are cool teachers, horses and motorcycles. Her only dislike is stuck-up people.

When asked her opinion of Logan Elm she replied, "It's really neat and the students are very friendly."

U.S. To Turn Over Okinawa To Japan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States formally agreed Friday to turn back Okinawa to Japan's rule during 1972. The United States will retain such military bases as it requires for the security of both countries.

The announcement was made in a joint communique issued at the end of three days of negotiations between President Nixon and Japan's Prime Minister Eisaku Sato.

DDT Under Attack

In announcing the gradual phaseout of the pesticide DDT, except for "essential uses," over the next two years, the Nixon administration has started one of the most extensive anti-pollution campaigns ever undertaken.

By refusing to ban DDT outright, Robert Finch, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, noted that as much as 70 percent of the insecticide manufactured in the United States is exported for use in other countries. That fact may be of only temporary relief to manufacturers, however, as it is probable other countries will follow the U.S. lead.

That was so in the recent government crackdown on the use of cyclamates in food preparation. Numerous other governments announced similar bans, following the U.S. action.

One unanswered question in the DDT controversy is the effect its withdrawal will have on the insect population. There are other insecticides, of course, but DDT's popularity indicates the wide dependence placed on it as a control agent.

At the moment, however, no consideration is considered as compelling by Washington as the polluting effect and long-lasting residues of DDT which have been noted in increasing amounts in all corners of the earth.

New 'Eyes' For Blind

Imagine a miniature television camera implanted in the eye of a blind person which would permit him to see again.

A device so fantastic may be ready for experimentation on humans in five to 10 years, according to a physicist at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York.

Before then, predicted Herbert Schumme, it may be possible to wear a similar device on the head like a miner's cap. Both devices would be connected to tiny wires implanted in the visual cortex section of the brain.

Electronic miniaturization is the technology which would make this, and other medical advances possible. This is the technology which has produced the transistor, increasing payloads for space rockets and increasingly powerful, but smaller, package computers.

Miniaturization in manufactured products is a trend which has only begun. Before it runs its course it will bring undreamed of aids to advancing civilization, but few would be as welcome as sight to those condemned to a world of darkness.

Steam Car Fizzles

William Lear, inventor-industrialist, has abandoned his project to build a steam-powered passenger car as the solution to automotive pollution. He put $5.5 million into it.

Development of a steam car, he said, is impeded by such problems as cost, lack of knowledgeable mechanics to service them and prohibitive weight.

There must have been scores of experiments with steam passenger cars since these went out during World War I. Probably there will be more, but no practical model is in sight.

Nothing has been heard recently of electric-powered cars on which experimentation was reported several years ago. Weight and the impracticability of battery power will probably never be overcome.

Both electric and steam-powered cars were in use in limited numbers before World War I, but their performance was far short of what the motoring public demands today.

Gasoline will continue to power the millions of cars on the highways.

A STORY KEENLY relished in Tel-Aviv these days concerns an Israeli bomber pilot who radioed his base commander, "I'm flying over a beautiful new steel mill built for the Egyptians by the Russians on the Upper Nile and I've got three bombs still on board. Shall I blow up the mill?" The commander answered, "Have you lost your mind? Leave that mill alone. Mismanaging it will cost those Egyptians a minimum of ten million dollars a year!"

On the subject of prophecies, cast your eye over this one, made by the eminent diarist, George Templeton Strong, in 1885: "By the year 1900, Brooklyn undoubtedly will be the city, and Manhattan will be the suburb. Brooklyn has room to spread; Manhattan has not. The New Yorker uptown on Thirty-fifth Street already finds it a tedious and annoying job to commute to his business downtown and home again. Can you imagine him fighting his way all the way up to the pig farms on One Hundredth Street forty years hence?"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Diabetes mellitus, the most common type of diabetes, is a disorder traced directly to the pancreas. This important gland, situated behind the stomach, is responsible for the production of insulin. The failure to produce an adequate amount of insulin and the improper use of it is responsible for this type of diabetes. There are many more factors that determine the severity and the control of the condition.

In this era of organ transplants there seems to be no limit to the ingenuity of surgeons and physicians. Dr. Richard C. Lillehei at the University of Minnesota has begun a vast series of experiments with his co-workers that may lead to the transplant of the pancreas. This work is aimed especially at young diabetics who also are burdened by the problem of kidney disease.

A remarkable statement made by Dr. Lillehei deserves repetition because of the hope it implies. Transplantations could constitute a contribution to the management of diabetes comparable to the discovery of insulin itself. This is indeed an exciting possibility especially since they believe that within the next decade pancreas transplants will be a frequent and successful operation.

Inadequate blood supply to the brain means that not enough oxygen reaches it. In the elderly, loss of memory for recent events and lapses of attention and some psychological disorders are attributed to the inadequate amount of oxygen brought to the brain.

A group of research workers at the State University of New York at Buffalo rightly assumed that if more oxygen could be brought to the brain, marked improvement would necessarily follow.

Dr. Eleanor A. Jacobs and her co-workers chose a number of patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Buffalo who showed evidence of a poor blood supply to the brain. These patients were carefully screened and in complete safety, were given a large concentration of oxygen in a hyperbaric chamber. The reaction was exceedingly gratifying. Some patients who had shown lack of interest in any of their surroundings and those whose memories were severely disturbed, seemed definitely improved.

A complex series of tests before and after treatment in the oxygen chamber were most gratifying and indicated that this study deserves continuation.

The term "senile degeneration" is a poor one and almost seems to indicate that there is little or no hope for the elderly. This is totally wrong.

We are learning more about the prevention of these senile symptoms of the elderly. Now there is a significant force at work to reduce those symptoms which are so distressing to patients and to their families. It is with great enthusiasm that the first reports of this work was accepted.

Patients must not be concerned when tissue removed from the body is sent to the laboratory for examination. This is a safety rule in all hospitals.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The comeback of Indonesia from the chaos into which it had been dumped by President Sukarno in 1965 must be considered one of the major economic stories of the '60s.

The fight against inflation, for example, is almost unmatched. In 1966 the rate in that Pacific island republic was 635 per cent, meaning that a product that cost a dime in January might have cost 65 cents by December.

Government spending had produced the incredible situation. Military costs for a conflict with Malaysia were partially responsible, but wasteful expenditures on domestic projects meant to impress foreigners contributed also.

The economy was in chaos when Sukarno was ousted in 1965. Despite Sukarno's boasts, despite his dreams of joining with Communist China to rule the area, the hard reality was that plants were producing at 20 per cent of capacity.

By 1967, however, the new government of President Suharto had reduced the inflation to 120 per cent a year and then to 85 per cent last year. This year the rate is down to 20 per cent and headed lower.

The budget is now balanced, and a five-year economic expansion program is under way. By 1973 rice production is expected to increase 40 per cent, factory output 90 per cent and fertilizer production many times over.

Over-all, the country is expected to grow at a rate of 4.7 per cent a year through 1973, a rate that almost any industrialized nation would be happy to achieve.

Indonesia, of course, is far less developed than some other nations in Asia, Europe and the Americas. But its potential, based on vast mineral riches, is greater than that of many already prosperous nations.

The catalyst needed for this development is capital, and Indonesia is carefully courting foreign investments. A bit wary at first, American and Japanese businessmen in increasing number are investing in the nation.

Although businessmen don't always think first of such things as the balance of power, that factor is an important one in the rebuilding of Indonesia.

When the nation began its campaign to attract foreign investments several years ago, the minister of foreign affairs, Adam Malik, reminded businessmen that their investments would bring not only a financial return but a political one also.

"The stability of the whole region may very well depend upon the growth and stability of Indonesia," he said. "A stable and prosperous Southeast Asia could well preserve the balance of power in East Asia in a way conducive to a stable peace in that part of the world."

Such words have more than passing importance for American businessmen who find their nation involved in seeking a solution, military or otherwise, to problems that affect other Southeast Asian areas.

Man Slain; Had Claimed He Was Killer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A policeman early Friday shot and killed a man who claimed he was the killer zodiac and was threatening to stab his own daughter to death.

"The Zodiac, that's me!" shouted David O. Martin, 30, before he was shot, said Sgt. Eugene O. Knight.

Police said they had no reason to believe the man was Zodiac, who has written them letters bragging of five slayings in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Martin used his knife to cut the hair of his daughter Kim, 11, and already had nicked her throat when he was shot by patrolman Thomas Burns, officers said.

Martin's wife, Geraldine, had fled the house with her son, Fran, 9. She said her husband was under the influence of drugs when he began threatening their daughter.

Zodiac, still believed at large, has knifed three young women to death, police say, and has killed two men, including a San Francisco taxi driver.

Nixon Summons Businessmen For Price Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon summoned 3,100 corporation heads Friday in a step-up of his efforts to persuade businessmen to take a more active part in helping quell inflation.

According to administration sources the President and some cabinet officers planned to tell them the government's super-tight spending, credit and taxing measures won't be eased until prices start a retreat.

The meeting at a huge hotel auditorium comes the same day as the government releases its monthly consumer-price index, one of the primary gauges of inflation.

Perhaps 1,800 of those invited were expected to attend to hear speeches by Nixon and Secretaries Maurice H. Stans of Commerce, David M. Kennedy of Treasury and George P. Shultz of Labor, plus Council of Economic Advisers Chairman Paul W. McCracken.

Columbus Woman 'Teacher Of Year'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Arnold (Trudy) Plummer of the Columbus Public Schools was selected Friday as Ohio's "Teacher of the Year" for 1969-70.

Recommended for the honor by a screening committee that considered a record number of nominations from throughout Ohio, her selection was announced by Martin W. Essex, state superintendent.

She is called "Bokkie," and is pictured standing in front of a fire-blackened forest. There is a tear on her cheek and a message which reads "Look what you've done! Only you can prevent forest fires."

'Fish-In' Halts Drills

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Remembering the oil blowout that blackened their beaches last January, residents held a fish-in Friday to block installation of a new offshore drilling platform.

Sailboats and motor boats occupied the area where Sun Oil Co. prepared to erect a 200-foot high platform in the Santa Barbara Channel. It would be the 13th on channel waters.

Six boats in the fish-in took turns anchoring at the installation area overnight, and claimed right-of-way over any vessel attempting to enter it.

Each boat dangled a fishhook in the water during its turn on guard. No catches were reported.

The area is six miles offshore and a half mile east of where a well under a similar platform operated by Union Oil Co. blew out Jan. 28, blackening 800 square miles of sea and 40 miles of beach.

Calabrese Would Shake Up Decorum Of Ohio Senate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The oft-mentioned "dignity and decorum" of the Ohio Senate is in for a jolt if Cleveland's Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese becomes its presiding officer.

Calabrese, who has announced as a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, is one of the General Assembly's most colorful characters.

A onetime Cleveland night club bouncer who has been around the Columbus political scene for 20 years, Calabrese is known partly for his knowledge of the English language as practiced by Casey Stengel.

A dapper man in $300 suits and $75 shoes, Calabrese has managed to squeeze in a few well-chosen words on almost every problem facing state government.

One of his most printable quotes came a couple of sessions back when he spoke on behalf of Sunday liquor sales for hotels and restaurants.

"A man likes to have a cocktail before he sits down to drink," said the incomparable Tony, who represents Cleveland's 22nd District.

One of Tony's greatest admirers is man of the opposite political faith, Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The feeling, by the way, is mutual.

The Senate, in recent years, has quit offering resolutions honoring Calabrese on his birthday. "His age keeps going down," said a Democratic friend.

His age wasn't mentioned in his announcement that he was a candidate, but Tony confided that he was 58.

"He's been 58 for four years now," a friend said. "It's more like 63."

Sen. Howard C. Cook, a Toledo Republican, had an answer for his Lucas County colleague, Sen. Marigene Valiquette, when she questioned standardized adaptability tests for high school students in regard to vocational education.

Miss Valiquette was worried about what would happen to youths not making a passing grade.

"If they can't make it, they can always become teachers," said Cook.

Miss Valiquette left the Senate hearing room. "I better get out of here before I explode," she said.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, who thrives on hamburgers and knick-knacks including lots of soda pop, missed his favorite meals while in Israel.

Hamburgers aren't served in that country's restaurants and Rhodes had to wait until he got to Rome before he could get a hamburger and a milkshake.

But his office kitchenette was stocked on his arrival back in the Statehouse. He lunched Wednesday on ham sandwiches.

78 Indians 'Invade' Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seventy-eight Indians from about 30 tribes have invaded Alcatraz Island in San Francisco Bay, demanding the federal government turn it over to them under provision of an 1868 treaty.

The tribesmen crept ashore from boats Wednesday night and vowed Thursday that most would remain until the federal government rules formally on their demands.

Indian leader Richard Oakes, 26, claimed that an 1868 treaty with the Sioux provides that any unused federal land reverts automatically to Indians.

The federal government abandoned its prison on the 21-acre island in 1963 and the property has been declared surplus. The General Services Administration is in charge of disposal.

GSA Regional Administrator Thomas Hannon visited Alcatraz Thursday and began "peaceable" talks with the Indians.

Oakes said the invaders want to set up a museum, a school and an Indian center.

Oakes and six other leaders accompanied Hannon to the mainland Thursday night for continued talks. The rest remained behind to spend a second night in pitched tents.

Hammer At Need For Prison Reform

LIMA, Ohio (AP) —America's penal institutions are turning loose ex-convicts whose only aim is to "get even" with the society that put them behind bars, says Dr. Karl A. Menninger, internationally known psychiatrist.

Addressing some 1,000 persons here Thursday night, Dr. Menninger said the public can change the penal system by demanding reform.

Church Holds Family Night

The Church of the Brethren held its annual Family Night and Thanksgiving program Tuesday evening in the church basement. A turkey dinner was prepared by the women of the church and the program was given by the men.

Following the meal a congregational hymn "Look for the Beautiful, Look for the True" was sung after which John Johnson played two guitar specials. "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and "Softly and Tenderly."

Speaker for the evening was John Magill of the local Western Auto Store, a member of the Christian Business Mens Association and a member of the Community United Methodist Church.

Mr. Magill asked "Do you know you are saved?" We each know Christ died for us, but do we know we are saved? Our lives are lacking something if we are not a Christian. Being a Christian we know Christ lives in us and we see the need of Bible teaching today, as we know the only plan of salvation comes from God's word, the Bible. We need to demonstrate our belief in action and evangelism, it is the only way the Christian family will survive. Your minister is not in the pulpit to entertain you, but to proclaim the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Ending with the thought of prayer, prayer is a vital part of a Christian's life, pray with a thankful heart. Prayer is the key to the Kingdom of Heaven.

Following the closing hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" Pastor Clyde Albaugh gave the benediction.

Fanciers Enjoy Souffle Puffing Up With Pride

By ALICE DENHOFF

As has been pointed out before, a souffle, while a culinary masterpiece in its way, isn't beyond the achievement of a careful cook.

Basically, a souffle consists of two parts, a thick white sauce and stiffly beaten egg whites. The egg whites should be at room temperature before beating. Beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry. Carefully fold the sauce into the stiffly beaten egg whites.

Optional Container

A souffle pan is fine, of course, but a straight-sided casserole serves nicely. Fill either vessel about 3/4 full. And, most important, serve the souffle immediately after it comes out of the oven.

There's no limit to the variety of souffles that can be made. One elegant version is made with luscious Alaska king crab, a royal dish, indeed, whether the crab is canned or frozen. Prepared with a lively lemon sauce, here's the format:

KING CRAB SOUFFLE

1 can (7 1/2 ounces) Alaska king crab or 1/2 pound frozen
3 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Dash cayenne
1 cup each, milk and shredded Cheddar cheese
4 eggs, separated
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
(Recipe follows)

Drain crab and slice fine. Melt butter in saucepan. Stir in flour, salt, mustard and cayenne. Gradually stir in milk; cook over medium heat until thickened. Add cheese, stirring until well blended. Slowly beat in egg yolks. Add crab and parsley. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff but not dry. Carefully fold crab sauce into beaten egg whites.

Pour into 1 1/2-quart souffle pan or straight-sided casserole. To make top-hat effect, run knife around top of souffle. Set in pan of hot water and bake, for 50 to 60 minutes at 350 degrees.

Serve at once with Lemon Parsley Sauce to 4.

LEMON PARSLEY SAUCE

3 tablespoons each butter and flour
1 1/4 cups chicken stock
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Melt butter and blend in flour. Gradually add chicken stock and cream. Stir and cook until medium thick. Add remaining ingredients. Makes 2 cups of sauce to serve with King Crab Souffle.

It's a good idea to have something special prepared ahead and refrigerated overnight when company is expected and there will be much to do. Here's an elegant fondue to take care of 8 to 10 servings:

OVERNIGHT CRAB FONDUE

2 (7 1/2 ounces) cans Alaska king crab or 1 pound frozen variety
8 slices bread
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 cup chopped celery
1 green pepper, chopped
1 medium onion, chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
4 eggs, slightly beaten
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Drain and slice crab. Dice half of bread and place in bottom of large baking dish. Mix together crab, mayonnaise, celery, green pepper, onion and salt. Spread over diced bread. Trim crusts from remaining 4 slices of bread and place over crab mixture.

Mix milk and eggs together and pour over crab and bread. Refrigerate several hours or overnight.

Bake for 15 minutes at 325 degrees. Remove from oven and spoon undiluted mushroom soup over top of casserole. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Return to oven and bake 1 hour more at 325 degrees.

Cancer Clinic Will Operate Monday Evening

The Early Detection Cancer Clinic will be open on Monday evening, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Berger Hospital.

The Clinic was established by the Pickaway County Unit of the American Cancer Society as a part of its continuing campaign to make all women aware of the need for a regular cancer checkup. The Cancer Clinic is in operation every second and fourth Monday evening of each month and is geared to serve Pickaway County women of low income families.

Clinic services consist of a breast examination, a pelvic examination and a PAP smear.

Many women do not realize that this very simple and painless test can detect cancer even when the growth is too small to be seen or felt, often months or even years before the outward signs appear. Regular yearly examinations and early detection could virtually do away with cancer of the breast and uterus. These forms of cancer are nearly always curable if found early and treated properly.

Women of low income families are urged to take advantage of the free checkups the Cancer Clinic offers them.

Transportation can be arranged, if necessary, by calling 474-3014 or 474-6279.

Early detection is the key in the fight against cancer. Prompt Action Protects!

Perk Will Not Contest Election

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ralph J. Perk, the Republican candidate for mayor of Cleveland in the Nov. 4 election, says he will not contest his defeat by Mayor Carl B. Stokes.

The official tabulation by the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections showed that Perk, the county auditor, lost by 3,451 votes.

Perk said Friday that he had decided against a recount for several reasons although he had been besieged with calls of alleged voting irregularities.

"There is absolutely nothing in the official count to indicate that a recount would change the final result by more than a couple hundred votes," he said. The deadline for requesting a recount is 4 p.m. today.

Dear Abby: A Young Neighbor Upsets Her Chores

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a young neighbor I'll call Mary. She's a very polite and quiet thing, but not too bright. Mary says I remind her of the mother she "never knew" because she was orphaned as a small child.

She is expecting a baby, and I feel sorry for her, so I make her welcome and try to be good company for her, but I keep wishing she would go home so I could get my work done.

There are other neighbors around us, most of whom are nearer to Mary's age, but Mary comes only to me. Is there some nice way I can tell her not to come so often and not to stay so long?

BUSY HOUSEWIFE
DEAR ABBY: Probably not, but I am glad that you are the one who is able to bring comfort to one who so desperately needs it. There are worse things in life than being kept from one's work, you know. Namely, finding yourself neither wanted, needed, or contributing to the happiness of another. Continue to extend your kindness, and make Mary welcome. When her baby comes, she won't have so much free time.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for a little more than a year and a problem came up which has me completely baffled.

Last night my husband told me that I had to make a choice between HIM and my girl friend, Abby. Jenny has been my best friend all through school. She stood up for me at my wedding, and I stood up for her at hers. We are as close as sisters, and I can't see ending our friendship just because my husband doesn't like her.

He refuses to give me any reasons why he doesn't like her. He just says it's a choice between HIM or Jenny!

Knowing that my husband didn't especially care for Jenny, I've never asked him to socialize with Jenny and her husband in the evenings. I see Jenny only during the day time when my husband is at work.

So what is your advice? Don't tell me to try to talk to him. I have, and he walks out of the room.

BAFFLED
DEAR ABBY: I don't know how old your husband is, but he has a lot of growing up to do. Tell him that unless he gives you a better reason for insisting that you end your friendship with Jenny, you intend to continue the friendship. And if he would terminate your marriage on such flimsy grounds, either he is looking for an excuse to do so, or something is wrong with him.

DEAR ABBY: Re "BROKE, HEARTBROKEN, AND ALONE," whose military husband has dumped her?

First, she has free access to the legal office of ANY military installation. Although these attorneys cannot represent clients in civil court, they can certainly give her sound guidance and counsel.

Also, ANY chaplain on ANY base will help her. The old joke "tell it to the chaplain" is more than a joke. It's true.

One who tells a mentally disturbed person to "snap out of it—you can cure yourself," is as guilty as he who tells someone who is bleeding to death to ignore the bleeding; it will stop itself. Even a psychiatrist cannot be his own psychiatrist.

It is true that the American Legion is a minority group. Relative to the population of this country, every group of people who make up an organization are a minority. However, the American Legion is the largest veterans organization in the world with a national membership of over 2,600,000 in some 16,000 local posts.

Finally, we come to the allegation that we were presumptuous in flagging the downtown area. Every man and woman who is a member of the American Legion has served in some branch of the armed forces during war time. As a patriotic organization, we are pledged to support the legal, elected, constitutional government of the United States. Now, if a group of people can descend on the capitol of the United States to protest this legal, constitutional government, can tear down the flag of our country and run up the flag of the enemy, can stone the police, burn their draft cards, advocate victory for the enemy over our own troops, and otherwise make a mockery of the laws and traditions of this great country, then Hall-Adkins Post 134 of the American Legion can and will "wave" the American flag in support of this elected authority. Right Of Bail Is Spelled Out By High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Declaring that the right to bail is absolute except for capital offenses, the Ohio Supreme Court ordered Thursday "reasonable" bond be set for a Columbus man being held on five felony charges.

Considered a test of the legality of "preventative detention" for potentially dangerous criminals, the case was taken to the high court by the attorney for Phillip H. Locke, 20.

Locke was arrested Sept. 22 and charged with two counts of second-degree murder in the slaying of two brothers during a fight outside a recreation center.

Franklin County Municipal Court Judge Bruce Jenkins dismissed the murder charges but ordered Locke detained without bond in view of five other felony charges pending against the man.

He said "complete novices" in key U.S. posts are ignoring reforms which could hamper black market operations.

Volpe Demands Speedy Action For Handicapped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There can be no excuse for delay in meeting transportation needs of the handicapped, U.S. Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe declared Thursday.

The transportation plight of the handicapped is one which requires immediate solution, Volpe told the 50th annual convention of the National Easter Seal Society.

He said the ability of handicapped persons to travel, besides being good therapy, would enable them to engage in work, school and social and family activities.

Among products which Volpe cited as examples of imaginative thinking are General Motors' "kneeling bus" which can be lowered to facilitate wheelchair boarding, and the new "Dial-a-Bus" concept being

Instructor Leaves Jet

BALDWIN, Fla. (AP) — An explosion sounded, the instructor hurtled into space Thursday night and navy Lt. (j.g.) J. F. Hayes was left alone in the dark sky to land the jet plane he was learning to fly.

Hayes and his instructor, Lt. Cmdr. K. A. McMillen, were on a night training mission over northeast Florida when explosive charges ripped off the TA4F's canopy and fired McMillen's ejection seat skyward.

Hayes, after a regrouping of emotions, landed the craft safely at Jacksonville.

McMillen parachuted to earth, strolled to a farm house near Baldwin and summoned highway patrol trooper for an auto ride back to the base.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

A letter was written to you this week challenging the right of the American Legion to "wave" the flag of the United States in support of the Vietnam policy of the elected government of this country. The flags were flown in the downtown area on Nov. 15 as a small gesture to counteract the moratorium being held in Washington D. C.

The letter writer made three allegations:

1. The policy pursued in Vietnam is in fact a political policy.
2. The American Legion is a minority group.
3. The American Legion was presumptuous in its action.

When a person refers to a policy as being political, I presume they mean partisan, either Democratic or Republican. The American Legion on a local, state and national level has supported the Vietnam policy of Presidents Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon. During the week just passed, some mayors and governors of both political parties throughout the United States urged that all patriotic Americans drive with their lights on in the daytime, leave their porch lights on in the evening and fly their flags from Veterans' Day, Nov. 11 through Nov. 16; all this to counteract the moratorium building up in Washington D. C. The President has an endorsement from a majority of U.S. Senators and U.S. Representatives in his search for a just and honorable peace. So much for that argument.

It is true that the American Legion is a minority group. Relative to the population of this country, every group of people who make up an organization are a minority. However, the American Legion is the largest veterans organization in the world with a national membership of over 2,600,000 in some 16,000 local posts.

Finally, we come to the allegation that we were presumptuous in flagging the downtown area. Every man and woman who is a member of the American Legion has served in some branch of the armed forces during war time. As a patriotic organization, we are pledged to support the legal, elected, constitutional government of the United States. Now, if a group of people can descend on the capitol of the United States to protest this legal, constitutional government, can tear down the flag of our country and run up the flag of the enemy, can stone the police, burn their draft cards, advocate victory for the enemy over our own troops, and otherwise make a mockery of the laws and traditions of this great country, then Hall-Adkins Post 134 of the American Legion can and will "wave" the American flag in support of this elected authority. Drama Club Finds Hit In 'Harvey'

By LYNNE GREGG

Teays Valley Drama Club members presented their version of "Harvey" last Saturday evening. John Hines played the lead.

The play drew 300 persons and approximately $250 in receipts. Miss Melody Shea was the director of the play.

Money earned is put into the Drama Club treasury and at the end of the year, some senior will receive a $400 college scholarship.

Members of the Drama Club are reading plays now and will probably be selecting one in February for their spring production.

Miss Shea's comment about the play: "I was very pleased with the way the production turned out and found the students to be very cooperative, both the cast on stage and the backstage crews. I think the many hours of work showed in Saturday's performance."

Cotton Bowl Is Glamour Attraction New Year's Day

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Orange Bowl offers sunshine and Miami Beach. The Sugar Bowl offers the New Orleans French Quarter. The Cotton Bowl sometimes offers bleak weather and always offers limited nightlife. On New Year's Day, the Cotton Bowl will also offer Notre Dame in its first post-season football appearance in 45 years.

Nets Smash L.A. Stars In ABA Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The lowly New York Nets came up with rather a Tart way of slowing Los Angeles' drive to over take New Orleans in the American Basketball Association's Western Division.

Lavern Tart scored 20 of his 21 points in the final half, including 16 in the fourth quarter, to power the Nets to a 94-83 conquest of the Stars Friday night.

That dropped the second-place Stars 1½ games back of idle New Orleans in the tight Western chase.

Pittsburgh knocked off Kentucky 112-108, Carolina coasted past Washington 122-112 and Denver nipped Dallas 103-100 in the night's other games.

Los Angeles rolled to a 41-36 halftime lead, but Tart's shooting helped the Nets to a 63-62 edge heading into the final quarter.

The New Yorkers had only an 84-80 lead with three minutes left, but Tart poured in four points as the Nets outscored Los Angeles 10-3 to put it away.

Kentucky grabbed an 84-79 lead at the start of the final period, but Charlie Johnson scored most of his 25 points in the final session to guide the Pipers from behind to victory.

Carolina rode a 34-point performance by Dave Verga past Washington. The Congars trailed by four points at the half, but the shooting of Verga and Doug Moe, who had 25 points, shot Carolina into the lead for good in the third quarter.

Ben Warley scored five points in the last 11 seconds to lift Denver from behind and past Dallas. The Chaps had taken a 100-98 lead on John Beasley's two free throws with 26 seconds left.

But, Warley canned a corner jumper with 11 seconds remaining to tie it and put Denver ahead with a pair of free throws with three seconds left. The officials then tagged Dallas Coach Cliff Hagen with two technicals and Warley hit one of two charity tosses for the margin of victory.

Many sports experts and fans figure that makes the Cotton Bowl the glamor attraction of the bowl games, with the Fighting Irish playing either Texas or Arkansas.

It was widely known in football circles as early as Wednesday, Nov. 12, that Notre Dame would accept a bowl bid. There was much speculation by Friday that the Orange Bowl had Notre Dame and Penn State sewed up.

On Saturday night, Notre Dame Athletic Director Moose Krause told a newsmen who called him from Miami that his personal preference was the Orange Bowl.

All the time, Field Scovell of Dallas, a big Texan with a slow and easy drawl, was working in the belief that the Orange and Sugar Bowls had mounted high-pressure campaigns. What could he do?

"We didn't crowd those people and it paid off," he told The Associated Press.

Scovell began his cool maneuvers on Nov. 12. "Some local Notre Dame folks told us Notre Dame might be interested," he said. "We told them we had been down that path before and that we felt like Notre Dame would continue its policy of not participating in post-season activity."

At this point, unbeaten Penn State was still the No. 1 choice of the Cotton Bowl. Penn State seemed torn between the Cotton and Orange Bowls.

Navy Gets 1st Civilian Sports Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to renew its football fortunes, the Naval Academy will have a civilian as its athletic director beginning next summer—the first time a non-military man has served in the post.

Capt. J. O. Bo Coppedge, a 1947 academy graduate, will retire after 24 years in the Navy to become the first civilian athletic director, a position he has held since June of last year.

Rear Adm. James Calvert, superintendent of the Naval Academy's program is to catch the change in policy because the appointment of a civilian "is absolutely essential if the Naval Academy's program is to catch and overtake those on our schedule in football and 20 other sports."

Navy has a record of one victory and eight losses and plays arch rival Army next Saturday. It won only two games last season.

Coppedge said the primary purpose for having a civilian as athletic director was to keep a continuity "because of the complex nature of athletics in college these days."

Poor Children Said Deficient

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — About one-third of Cleveland's poor children suffered a mild vitamin C shortage that prevents cuts from healing, about one-fourth are underweight and some are shorter than normal, say Cleveland pediatricians.

Dr. Charles Staples, on the staff of an East Side children's hospital, told the Cleveland Conference on Hunger Thursday that more severe shortages of vitamin C could cause scurvy.

Dr. Charles Q. McClelland, pediatrician for the Cleveland Head Start medical program, said studies of inner city children in 1965 showed some were shorter than they should have been.

"It was quite clear that the absence of adequate nutrition does affect growth, particularly height," Dr. McClelland said. "The problem is not disappearing; indeed, it may be worse."

The Cleveland conference is one of 20 preliminary meetings in U.S. cities to get recommendations for the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health to be held Dec. 2-4.

Dogpatch Ceremony Adds To Sadie Hawkins Dance

By PAM BUSH

The Sadie Hawkins dance held in the high school's cafeteria last Friday night was highlighted when Larry Milan, junior class adviser, married couples in a real "Dogpatch" wedding ceremony. The cost of the wedding was 2 bits, 4 bits or 6 bits. The groom wore a paper collar and a necktie, while the bride wore a white veil. Each couple was presented with a certificate which declared that they were married in unholy matrimony.

The cafeteria was decorated with corn stocks, pumpkins and bales of hay. The music to which everyone grooved was that of the Sanhenron Move.

Teays Valley FHA opened its third meeting of the year in regular ceremony by the president, Pam Bush, Nov. 13.

This month's meeting was highlighted by Ray Noecker's talk on Argentina. He showed very interesting slides on Argentina's culture. Noecker stayed in Argentina for six months, living with five different families. His slides were enjoyed by the entire chapter.

Next meeting will be December 11.

Dress ranged from Little Abner to casual sports clothes. Corsages made by the girls, worn by the boys, were made of carrots, radish roses, corn stocks and tissue flowers, each adding a spark of ingenuity and imagination.

Circleville's Tigers got off on the right foot Friday when they defeated the Westfall Mustangs, 57-53 in a thriller at the Mill Street gym.

The Tigers were never behind in the game but had to fight for their lives as Coach Paul Hoskins' Mustangs never let them get out of sight.

Circleville showed to advantage as they combined good shooting and a sticky man to man defense to win the opener.

Randy Halley led the Tigers with 20-points as he continually hit from the outside. Bryce Brown had 12, Ty Ankrom contributed 11, Tom Bowers added 7, Charlie Jackson dropped in 6 and Mark Lutz had a free throw to put all of the Tigers in the scoring column.

TWO keys to the victory had to be fine defensive job that Ty Ankrom did on Westfall's great forward Greg Bigam and Bruce Brown's control of the backboards for the Red and Black. Brown stood his ground under the hoop and defied anyone else to stake a claim on his territory.

At times it seemed the Tigers would break the game wide open but the well coached Mustangs never panicked and always closed the gap.

Led by their "dandy duo", Greg Bigam and Bill Blair, and getting help from Bruce Beatty, Tom Hawker, Steve Sines, and Rick Beatty the Mustangs made the Tigers earn the victory. Circleville jumped off to a good start leading the Broncos 17-9 at the end of the first quarter, as Halley and Jackson ripped the cords from outside.

The second quarter was a different story as the Tigers were really bothered by the full court press of the Mustangs. The press plus the shooting of Bigam, Beatty, Sines and Hawker sent the Red and Black into the locker room with a halftime lead of 28-25.

Coach John Lawhorn's boys, also showing fine coaching, regained their composure in the third period and led by Brown's seven points they stretched their lead to 42-35 at the end of the quarter.

THE fourth quarter was a real barn burner as Halley meshed the nets from all angles for the Tigers and Blair and Bigam countered for the Mustangs.

Blair showed a real hot hand as he scored six points in the last 30-seconds but the time ran out and the scoreboard said out to Circleville 57-53.

Tonight the Tigers travel to Chillicothe to take on the Cavaliers in their last game before hitting a tough league schedule.

Lambert Scores 43

Teays Valley '5' Bombs Columbus North, 75-50

By MIKE VAUGHAN
Herald Sports Writer

Teays Valley and Dale Lambert won their first basketball game of the season routing Columbus North, 75-50 Friday night.

The Vikings never allowed the visitors to get within more than ten points as Lambert, senior guard for the Vikings, broke his old scoring record of 38 points ripping the nets for 14 baskets from the field and 15 markers from the charity stripe for 43 points.

Lambert, who paced the Vikings in the district tournament last year where he broke the four game scoring record, connected on 14 of 21 shots from the field for 66 per cent. He also netted 15 of 18 free throws in the tilt.

The Vikings never gave the North Bear squad an oar of safety as they sunk the Bears from the starting gun. TV hit just over 50 per cent from the field netting 28 of 55 shots. The hosts also pounded the charity stripe hitting 19 of 28 free throws.

THE Vikings split the game wide open early in the third period controlling the ball and allowing the North team only one shot at the basket. The diminutive hosts again and again hawked the ball from the larger North squad who gave up the rebound 21 times on errors. TV committed only 12 personal fouls in the tilt and gave up the sphere 16 times while the visitors tallied 19 personals.

BIG scorer for the Bears was sophomore guard, Doug Jenkins. Jenkins managed six buckets in 13 tries. Wes Harris, North's 6 foot 8 inch giant center was held to 13 markers to round off the double figure scorers for the Bears.

Teays Valley's offense centered around Lambert's record book 43 points but was rounded out by Ed Brown's nine points. Ed Combs and Ed McCord each hit three from the field. Larry Dixon went for five while Bob Tucker, Brent Roof and John Glick each added two.

Defense and speed were the two keys to coach Bob Hoover first half. Hoover's hotshots held North to a scant three buckets in the first period while running up 17 markers. In the second stanza, the Vikings hit better than 60 per cent of their shots and allowed North only 11 points in the canto.

The second half of the tilt was an "instant replay" of the first with TV controlling the boards and not allowing the tiring and inexperienced visitors time to set up. The hosts ran up 16 points in the quarter allowing North their biggest quarter with 17.

Then it happened. Lambert caught fire in the last stanza and the Viking war machine went to work and ran away with the game until there was less than two minutes left on the scoreboard clock. TV copped ball after ball from the Columbus school and Lambert hit basket after basket toward his new 43 point record. Hoover's five fired 21 points in the stanza and allowed North but 16.

IN the reserve tilt, the tiny Vikings met defeat at the hands of reserve-varsity player Brian Clifford, 45-27. Clifford, a 6 foot 3 inch soph, netted 12 markers for the little Bears. His squad hit 17 buckets from the field and 11 from the free throw line in their victory romp.

The Viking JV's were led by Jeff Sheets and Chuck Worthington with seven points each. Jack Brinker hit for six, Steve Bumgarner netted four, Joe Lombardo hit one bucket and Randy Nungester added one marker to round out the scoring. Tonight Teays Valley travels to Logan Elm.

California Games Top Gridiron Schedule

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

A lot of football folks will have their eyes glued on the state of California today.

The Rose Bowl people will be watching the Southern California-UCLA battle in the Los Angeles Coliseum with the winner becoming the host team in the New Year's Day classic.

But the pro scouts will direct their attention about 75 miles south to San Diego where San Diego State, North Texas State and two of the passingest quarterbacks ever to hit the college sport will tangle under the lights.

The USC-UCLA game is slated for a 6 p.m. EST start before a national television (ABC-TV) audience. Both teams have 8-0-1 records with a 14-14 tie with Notre Dame spoiling fifth-ranked Southern Cal's season and a 20-20 deadlock with Stanford marring sixth-ranked UCLA's campaign.

The Trojans have the nation's leading runner in Clarence Davis who is making the task of replacing O.J. Simpson look easy with 1238 yards in 270 carries. If you're looking for omens that's exactly the yardage Simpson had before he won the 1967 UCLA game with a 64-yard touchdown run.

UCLA's balanced offense however ranks seventh nationally with 442.1 yards per game although the Bruins are not in the top ten in either rushing or passing. But they have effective performers in quarterback Dennis Dummit halfback Greg

Jones and fullback Mickey Cureton.

For those with a passing fancy the game of games takes place in San Diego where the country's two top passing teams come face to face—or rather arm to arm.

The arms belong to San Diego State's Dennis Shaw and North Texas State's Steve Ramsey two seniors who could go high in the pro draft.

With seven touchdown passes two weeks ago and a record nine last Saturday Shaw owns the major college season record of 34 TD tosses.

The Texans' Steve Ramsey holds career marks of 476 completions 6822 yards and 63 touchdown passes.

Other night games featuring ranked teams finds Louisiana State No. 10 entertaining Tulane in a traditional windup and Houston No. 19 and bound for the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl hosting Wyoming.

Two other night contests have Colorado State U. at Arizona State and New Mexico at New Mexico State.

In the afternoon top-ranked Ohio State bids for a second straight perfect season against 12th-ranked Michigan at Ann Arbor Mich. The Buckeyes can't return to the Rose Bowl and a respectable showing by Michigan probably will earn the nod as the Big Ten's representative.

Texas No. 2 and Arkansas No. 3 are idle but fourth-ranked Penn State is at Pitt and Missouri No. 7 plays at Kansas.

Raiders a five-point underdog would give them first place with another contest against the Chiefs in Oakland.

With the other three Western clubs out of contention the home field edge for the divisional title looms as the key to a possible Super Bowl confrontation against the National Football League champion.

Other games Sunday will pit Cincinnati 4-5-1 at New York 7-3; Houston 4-4-2 at Miami 2-7-

1; Denver 4-5-1 at San Diego 4-6 and Buffalo 3-7 at Boston 2-8.

On Thursday Thanksgiving Day the Chiefs entertain Denver and San Diego is at Houston.

On Thursday Minnesota is at Detroit and San Francisco visits Dallas.

The Raiders stayed in contention last week nipping San Diego 21-16 on a last quarter 30-yard touchdown bomb by Darve Lamonia to Warren Wells. Lamonia has already tossed 27 TD passes this season and will be aiming for his 1967 team record of 30 and the pro record of 36 shared by Y.A. Tittle and George Blanda.

The Chiefs will try to offset the passing of Lamonia to Fred Biletnikoff who has caught 11 TD passes already this year and Wells who has snared eight six-pointers with the running of Warren McVea, Robert Holmes and Mike Garrett.

The Jets whose winning streak was snapped at six by the Chiefs will attempt to start another against the Bengals. Cincinnati slumping with only one victory and a tie in their last seven games will try to get untracked on the passing of Greg Cook against the Jets' injury-riddled defensive backs. A Jet triumph would clinch a spot in the East Division playoffs Dec. 20.

the other playoff spot against the Dolphins minus injured quarterback Bob Griese. Rick Norton will quarterback Miami for the second straight week.

San Diego will be out to avenge an earlier shutout by the Broncos. Floyd Little is expected back after missing two games for Denver. The former Syracuse All-American who also missed an earlier game with injuries still leads the league in rushing.

O. J. Simpson of Buffalo had his best day as a pro in last week's victory over Miami catching two touchdown passes as the Bills ended a three-game losing string. The Bills beat the Patriots earlier in season 23-16 but haven't won on the road this year.

Benvenuti Fights Rodriguez Tonight

ROME (AP) — Nino Benvenuti has never been beaten in any of his 75 bouts in Italy—and the world middleweight champion was taking every precaution to make sure that string wasn't snapped tonight when he defended his title against top-ranked Luis Rodriguez.

Laurelville Wins 2nd Over Southeastern

The Laurelville Wildcats won their second tilt of the season in four starts Friday night topping Southeastern, 74-65.

The Wildcats were actually outscored from the field by the SE squad. The hosts hit 29 of 62 buckets for 45 per cent. Laurelville netted 23 of 59 shots from the field for about 39 per cent.

The game was won at the foul line and on the boards for the visitors. Laurelville hit 28 points on the charity line and out rebounded the larger Southeastern five, 52-37.

Weaver was the big grabber for the Wildcats, pulling down 17 rebounds. Dave Thompson took 14 and Mike Shaw pulled down 13.

THE big scorer for the Wildcats in their victory was Smith with four buckets and six markers from the charity stripe.

McCabe clicked for 13 with five buckets and three foul shots while Thompson connected on two from the field and six from the free throw stripe for ten points.

Adams was the high netter of the tilt hitting ten buckets from the field for Southeastern.

In Memoriam

In remembrance of our dear wife, mother, Mrs. Lowel L. C. Poling, who passed away one year ago Nov. 22, 1968.
Although it seems so very long,
since we have kissed your hand,
You always seemed to know, just when
To lend a helping hand.
We miss you, oh, so very much.
You will never be far from our thoughts. We will never forget
How can we all be wrong?
Mom, as you walk in God's Valley
With all the angels singing.
We know that you are happy there
And our mournful hearts are ringing.
One ray of light is shining through
For we know that some sweet day
We will walk in that Valley with you Mom.
And kiss your hand again.
Sadly missed by Husband, children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Handpicker Picks Rams, K.C. Chiefs

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Gabriel's bruised knee and the news that Earl Morrall will start for Baltimore instead of John Unitas add a new dimension to the tough job of trying to pick this week's pro football winners.

The big names of the day are Dallas at Los Angeles in the National Football League, possibly a preview of the Jan. 4 title game, and Oakland at Kansas City for the lead in the Western Division of the American Football League.

We look for wins by the favored Rams and Chiefs and for upsets by the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions. Last week's score was a poor 6-6-1 so it's 80-31-6 for the year and let's try again. All are Sunday games.

NFL
Los Angeles 27, Dallas 20—Gabriel is due to start despite the bruised knee as Rams aim for 10th straight. Eddie Meador saved the day last week in Philadelphia where Eagles gave Rams fits before losing 23-17. It's tough to run on the Cowboys but Gabriel should find holes in pass coverage. Rams will pressure Craig Morton more than Cowboys will bother Gabriel.

Minnesota 31, Pittsburgh 10—Only problem for Vikings is a temptation to look ahead to Thursday's date with Detroit. Steelers must be seething after losing eight in a row but they don't have the guns to shoot down the flying Vikings, unless they beat themselves.

Cleveland 41, New York 28—First of two between these old rivals with Browns winning eight of the last nine. Leroy Kelly should ramble through Giant line despite new get tough line by Coach Alex Webster. Look for both Fran Tarkenton and Bill Nelsen to get hot.

Detroit 13, Green Bay 10—Good spot for an upset with Lions still hoping Vikings will stumble. Packers, three back with five to go, were all but eliminated last week. A bitter blood bath with Packers favored on strength of 28-17 win Oct. 12 in which Bill Munson suffered fractured wrist. Defense should do it for Detroit.

Washington 24, Atlanta 21—A real toughie. Will Redskins be down after defeat by Dallas? Falcons coming off 48-point game against Bears just might be able to outscore Sonny Jurgensen by running that Washington line. We're staying with Sonny.

Chicago 17, Baltimore 14—Sticking our chin out here. Counting on Bears' rugged defense to turn off Colts and Gale Sayers to score enough for tight win in low point game.

San Francisco 28, New Orleans 23—Two of last week's winners who made it in the closing minutes. If John Brodie can be consistent for another week he should take 49ers in for enough to offset Tom Dempsey's field goals.

St. Louis 31, Philadelphia 24—Won't be surprised at anything in this one. Cards were shut out by Lions after scoring 83 points in two previous starts. Eagle gave Rams a tough rumble. Figure St. Louis offense to outscore Eagles in a wild, no-defense thriller.

AFL
Kansas City 24, Oakland 21—

Can't shake the memory of that 41-6 win by Raiders in 1968 championship game after they split at home. This first of two (second game Dec. 13) and home field edge goes to Kansas City in one of the better games of the season. Lenny Dawson has Otis Taylor back to help and those pony backs may be able to run on Raiders. Darryl Lamoni can get the big rush.

New York 27, Cincinnati 21—Jets were embarrassed by Chiefs and anxious to take it out on somebody. Wrong day for Greg Cook and his playmates to visit Shea.

Houston 20, Miami 14—Houston, second in East, still has a long shot chance of catching Jets or at least getting in play-offs. Dolphins in tough shape without Bob Griese. Roy Geralsa kicked five field goals in Sept. 23 game, won by Oilers 22-10.

San Diego 17, Denver 14—and what difference does it make? Both clubs eliminated from chance at first and Floyd Little still only a possible for Broncos. Chargers were in there all the way with Oakland last week so rate the call at home.

Boston 21, Buffalo 20—Flip a coin or take a blind stab. Pats being at home helps but Bills won first game 23-16. After losing first seven. Pats have won two of three. Bills broke four-game losing streak by bombing Miami last week.

IRS Agents Give Testimony In Columbus Police Trial

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The government put four Internal Revenue Service agents on the stand Friday as it began laying the ground work in its case against eight policemen and a racketeer on trial for gambling conspiracy.

Agent John G. Lafferty told the U.S. District Court jury of an instance in 1967 when two men, believed to have been police officers, were seen meeting with Frank Baldasarro, a reputed numbers king pin.

Baldasarro and the eight policemen are accused of participating in a police-protected gambling operation.

Lafferty said that after the meeting he and another agent followed the two men's car, which bore "enforcement-type license plates."

They lost the car, he said, but a short time later the unmarked vehicle pulled them over and a man, who flashed a badge, asked the agents why they were following him.

Lafferty said he denied they were following the car.

Most of the testimony by IRS agents Edward C. Licht of Cleveland, Kermit B. Allen of Cincinnati and Glen Shepard of Atlanta concerned federal surveillance of local gambling figures and raids carried out.

IRS Agent Frank H. Pater, head of the "Columbus Project" federal probe who testified Thursday, was returned to the stand Friday for cross-examination by Baldasarro's attorney, F. Lee Bailey.

Asked by Bailey if the government's interest in the Columbus police department didn't start after three federal agents were arrested in July 1968 on disorderly conduct and drunk-driving charges, Pater hesitated, then replied, "I don't think so."

In another development, U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary ordered the arrest of no. 10, Sgt. John G. Kaiser after Kaiser failed to appear to testify.

His testimony was to have centered around reputed pay-offs allegedly made to Columbus policemen for protecting the multi-million-dollar numbers racket in the city.

Police officials said Kaiser called in sick nine days earlier and was considered AWOL from the force.

Clipper came under the dominance of earth's gravity. The spacecraft picked up speed and was to be 200,000 miles from earth by mid-morning today, moving at more than 2,000 miles an hour.

Apollo 12 will continue to gain speed until Monday afternoon when it sears into the earth's atmosphere at 36,000 miles an hour and parachutes to a landing in the Pacific Ocean near American Samoa.

On their 45th orbit of the moon, the astronauts fired their powerful rocket engine. The rocket firing occurred behind the moon and as the spacecraft reappeared it was fleeing homeward at more than 5,000 miles an hour.

Gravitational pull of the moon slowed it until about 10 p.m., EST, when the earth's gravity took hold and Apollo 12 started down hill toward home.

Conrad and Bean described their moon adventures during a final television close-up of the moon after they left its orbit.

Conrad said he landed so near the planned place that "I gave myself quite a thrill."

Bean said that walking in the reduced gravity of the moon's surface was a funny thing. "Your legs never seem to get tired," he said. "You assume some kind of normal pace and you're able to go for long distances without your legs getting tired."

"I found I couldn't walk," said Conrad. "Wherever we went we loped, and it just didn't seem natural not to lope."

Conrad said he fell down once during the 7 1/2 hours he and Bean walked the moon's surface. "I didn't have any problem getting up," he said.

"Finally, to expedite things, we would just fall over on our face, picking up rocks, and give ourselves a one-hand pushup, or just get down on our knees and get whatever it was we needed."

As the crew settled down for the night, ground controllers said, "Sleep in as long as you want. We're not going to awaken you in the morning."

During their week in space, the Apollo 12 crew had three work days lasting more than 20 hours. They got only four to five hours of sleep Thursday night.

High School Girl Fights Hanoi Silence On POWs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Alice Powers is worried about her Dad, a Navy pilot being held in a North Vietnamese prison camp.

So she has decided to try to crack the wall of silence the Hanoi government has maintained around American prisoners.

Alice and two high school friends, Carol Ashcroft and George Edmondson, have begun to circulate petitions calling for humane treatment of prisoners.

The Defense Department says it believes he was taken prisoner, but the Hanoi government never has confirmed it had Powers' family has not received any word about him.

"I'm not just going it for my Dad, but for all the men," Alice said of her project.

Her mother, Mildred, and brothers, Trent, 16, and Frank, 9, are lending moral support and encouragement to her efforts.

Alice and her friends already have collected 600 signatures from fellow students at Whetstone High School. They think they ought to have at least 1,000 before sending the petitions off to embassies.

"I'm going to wait a while now, until I see if I can get more names to make more impact," Alice said.

Trumbull Workers Not Paid?

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Some 700 Trumbull County employees face payless paydays in December unless the county's financial crisis is solved.

A quick solution would be enactment of a piggyback addition to the Ohio sales tax.

Such a tax failed in a stormy session of county commissioners Friday to get the required unanimous vote to pass as an emergency measure to take effect by Dec. 1.

County Auditor William C. Trimbull said the payroll next Friday would be the last for workers this year if new funds are not found.

He said the county faces a $500,000 deficit beyond this year's budget of $3.7 million.

The proposed one-half of 1 per cent county sales tax would add an estimated $1 million a year to county revenues, Trimbull said.

If the financial crisis is not solved next month, the county employees will get back pay in January when next year's funds are available.

Rusk Pleads For Fast End To Arms Race

CINCINNATI (AP)—Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk called on all nations Friday night to end the "spiralizing arms race" and cooperate in common tasks to avoid World War III.

Rusk said that both the nuclear arms race and the population explosion could set off World War III.

He told a gathering of University of Cincinnati Law School alumni "There will be no lessons from World War III because there won't be enough left."

"We must impose ceilings, we must keep the arms race in manageable proportions," Rusk said. He noted that the United States has spent more than a trillion dollars on defense since the end of World War II.

He praised talks going on in Helsinki, Finland, between the United States and the Soviet Union aimed at setting limits on the weapons' buildup.

"The clock is ticking, with decisions being made on both sides that keep the arms race ever increasing," he said. Each side can inflict massive damage on the other, regardless of who strikes first."

He called for nations to press forward in other areas such as space exploration, weather watching and other fields of common interests.

Pointing to growing population problems, Rusk proposed that families voluntarily put the brakes on population growth which is destined to generate tensions that could "explode into international turbulence."

U.S.-Japan

American source said Sato's ruling Liberal-Democratic party will be able to take credit for the reversion of Okinawa in a general election expected in late December or January.

There also were predictions that pressure to get the Soviet Union to return four small islands off northern Japan will increase.

The Soviets seized the islands—Habomai Shikotan Kunashir and Etorofu—after World War II and Japan has asserted that the islands are part of its territory.

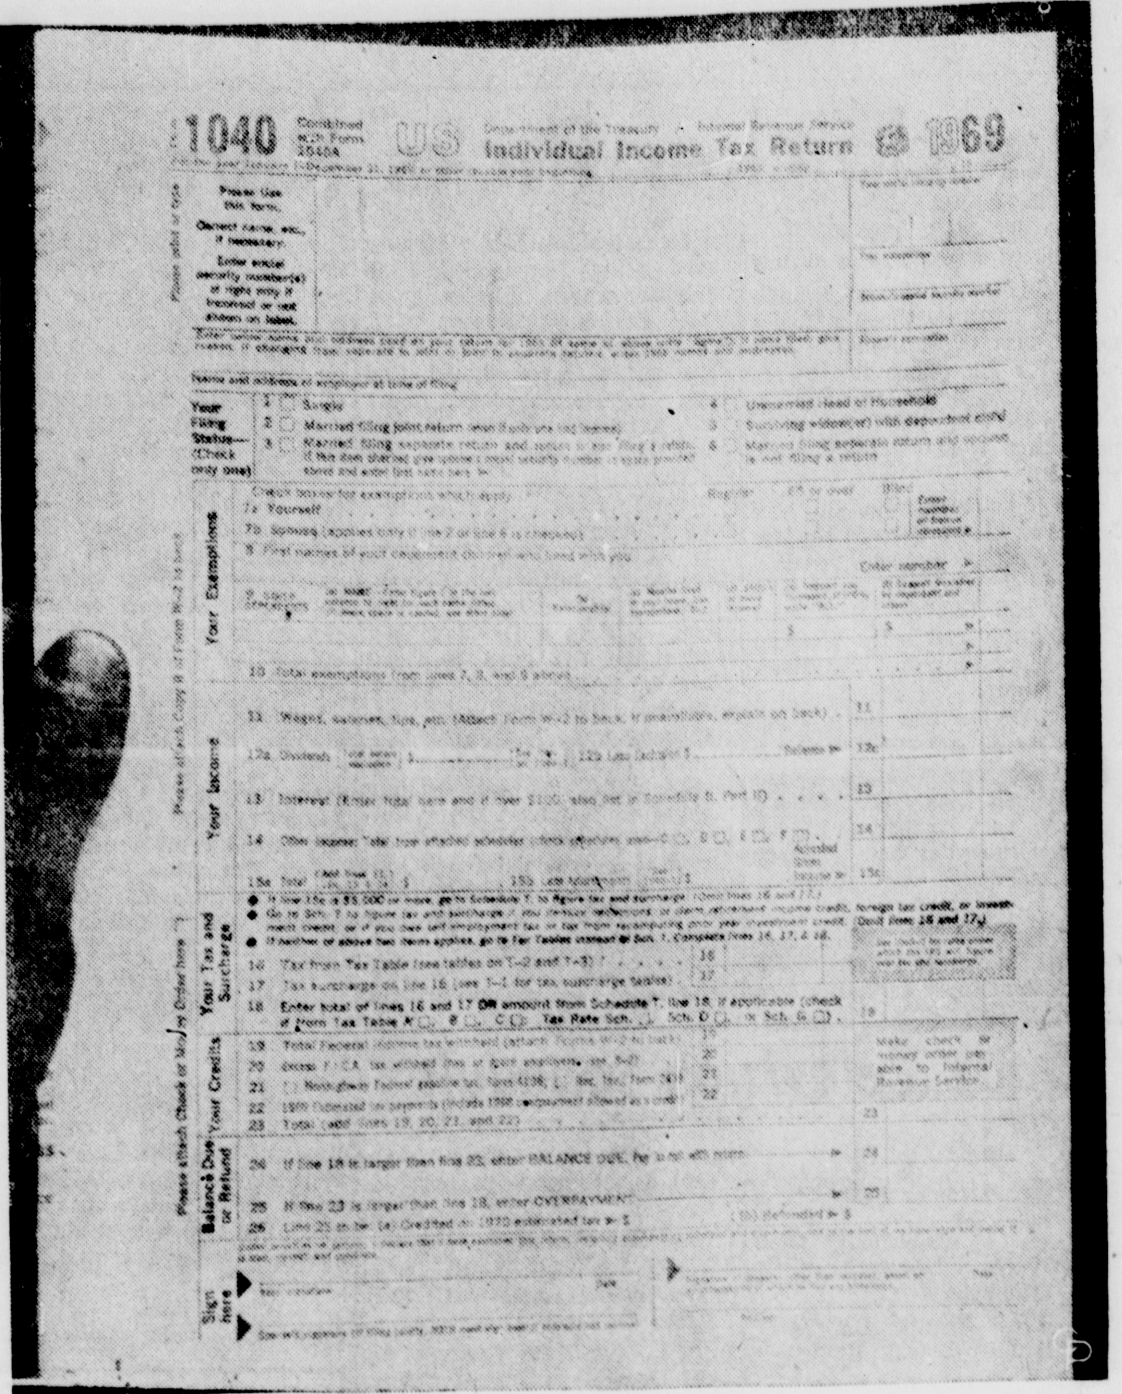

Rep. Ford Eyes Justice Douglas' Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford hasn't yet decided whether to start impeachment proceedings against Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, but he still is investigating the possibility.

An aide to the Michigan congressman said Friday the decision to continue the investigation was not retaliation for the Senate's vote against confirmation of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to the Supreme Court.

Ford said two weeks ago he had assigned a member of his staff to check allegations of what he called questionable off-the-bench conduct by Douglas. The Michigan congressman said that if Haynsworth were rejected on ethical grounds the same standards should apply to sitting justices.

Amid some congressional criticism, Douglas earlier this year resigned as an officer of the Parvins Foundation which has been financed partly from a mortgage on the sale of a Las Vegas gambling casino. Douglas' office said he had served on the foundation because of belief in its goals and did not know of the casino connection.

NEW FORM 1040—This is the new income tax Form 1040 that some 77 million of us will have to get acquainted with in the coming months. The Internal Revenue Service says "It has been designed so that, regardless of financial circumstances, it can be used by taxpayers in any bracket." The old computer card Form 1040A, used by 18 million taxpayers last year, has been discontinued. The IRS says this new one-page form is just as simple. Hah!
